List of definitions for cooperation

Reference	Definition
(Hülsmann & Lohmann, 2009, p. 5)	The cooperation and their resulting connctetions enable to have access to the ressources of the partners so that based on cooperation performances can be achieved that overbear the possibilities of single companies because of a division of labor.
(Wallentowitz, Freialdenhoven, & Olschewski, 2009, p. 44)	A cooperation consists of economically and lawfully independent companies. ... is characterised through a reciprocal coordination of the tasks. ... is based on decision of the partners by choice. ... aims to realise common or intercompatible goals of the partner. ... promises to achieve a higher achievement of goals in comparison with a single proceeding.
(Zahn, 2011, p. 18)	For the harmonisation of interests cooperation stands for the willingness of collaboration and is manifested as a Bindungsverhalten in in fokussierten Anstrengungen zur Stimulierung eines gemeinsamen Verstehens als Voraussetzung für gemeinsames Handeln.”
(Sydow & Möllering, 2009, pp. 33–34)	Networks are hybrid “Netzwerke sind hybride, marktliche und hierarchische Elemente intelligent miteinander kombinierende Oorganisationsformen ökonomischer Aktivitäten, die manchmal auch als eigenständige Koordinationsform “jenseits von Markt und Hierarchie (Powell 1990) begriffen werden.”
(Woratschek & Roth, 2005, pp. 143–145)	“Der Begriff der Kooperation ist in vielfältiger Weise belegt und muss jeweils im Hinblick auf den konkreten Untersuchungsgegenstand spezifiziert werden. Im hier zur Diskussion stehenden Zusammenhang kann unter Kooperation die Gesamtheit aller möglichen Formen von zwischenbetrieblichen Interaktionen subsumiert werden, die aus gemeinsamen Zwecken heraus entstehen, über Verhandlungen zu Abmachungen führen und deren Partner rechtlich und mit Einschränkungen auch wirtschaftlich selbstständig sind. Kooperationen sind durch das Verfolgen eines gemeinsamen Zieles charakterisiert, das für die teilnehmenden Unternehmen im Aufbau von Wettbewerbsvorteilen zum Ausdruck kommt. ”
(Stein, 2005, p. 170)	“Kooperation umfasst als Sammelbegriff die überbetriebliche Zusammenarbeit zweier (dyadische Kooperation) oder mehrerer (multiple Kooperation) selbstständiger Partner. Das Ziel der Zusammenarbeit ist es, im Wettbewerb durch Verbindung der strategischen Zielsysteme und der individuellen Stärken in einzelnen, mehreren oder sämtlichen Geschäftsfeldern gemeinsam die individuellen Firmenziele jedes Partners zu erreichen.”
(Arnold & Eßig, 2005, p. 703)	“Kooperation ist der Oberbegriff für strategische Allianzen und Netzwerke. Er entstammt der lateinischen Sprache und kann im weitesten Sinn emit “Zusammenarbeit” übersetzt werden (Eßig 1999, S. 44; Kaufmann 1993, S. 24). Mit dem Suffix “-arbeit” wird deutlich, dasss Kooperation immer ein bewusstes und willentliches Handeln voraussetzt – Kooperation in diesem Sinne ist also nicht Ergebnis zufälligen Handelns. ... Bereits Anfang der siebziger Jahre hat die betriebswirtschaftliche Kooperationsforschung darauf hingewiesen, dass Kooperation nicht sozialer Selbstzweck ist, sondern die wirtschaftliche Situation der beteiligten Unternehmen verbessern muss.”

(Scherer, 2005, pp. 913–914)	“Versteht man unter Kooperation allgemein die Zusammenarbeit mit dem Ziel der gemeinschaftlichen Aufgabenerfüllung, kann diese intraorganisational, d.h. innerhalb eines Unternehmens, aber auch interorganisational, d.h. mit anderen Unternehmen bzw. Organisationen, stattfinden. ... Kooperation auf interorganisationaler Ebene findet zwischen zwei oder mehr Unternehmen (ggf. Auch anderen Organisationen) statt, um gemeinsam Aufgaben zu erfüllen, und weist unterschiedliche Formen auf. Sie basiert auf einer freiwilligen vertraglichen Zusammenarbeit, wobei die Partner rechtlich und wirtschaftlich selbstständig bleiben, ihre individuellen und teilweise konkurrierenden Ziele aber der Verfolgung des kollektiven Ziels (zumindest teilweise) unterordnen. Dies erfolgt mit der Aussicht, dass die Kooperation gegenüber dem getrennten Vorgehen der einzelnen Unternehmen eine höhere Zielerreichung ermöglicht.”
(Hungenberg, 2001, p. 400)	Cooperation refer to a mischform of internal and external developments that are characterised through the collaboration of two or more companies bringing parts of their activities together in order to ein bestimmtes Geschäftsfeld gemeinsam zu bearbeiten.“
